May 2, 2015

Our mission at The Mama Edna Project is to allow folks with cancer and other life-threatening or debilitating diseases to live stronger, happier lives through the nutritional boosts that juicing raw, organic produce can give. "Paying it forward" was part of Mama Edna McLamb's daily life. Here we continue her legacy by giving loving support and hope to folks who may or may not have the team of caregivers that she had during her treatments. Please visit our Facebook page called The Mama Edna Project or our blog at www.themamaednaproject.com.

Saturday, May 2nd, 2015 from 12 p.m. until 5 p.m., rain or shine.

The Mama Edna Project is a juicing community to help people with cancer or other life-threatening illnesses obtain a juicer and produce to feed it before, during and after their treatments.
